

The Nineteenth Annual Exhibition of the Society was held on their grounds in Fitchburg, on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 10th and 27th. The list of attractions offered by the Committee of Arrangements was more extensive and varied than usual, the new features being an exhibition of machinery in operation, a trial of Steam Fire Engines, and a Balloon Ascension. The number of entries of all kinds of Stock was large, and the classes of Thoroughbred Stock, Family Horses, and Swine, were especially full. There were 112 Thoroughbreds shown, all fine, and many of them splendid animals. The confident anticipations of good weather, felt by the friends of the Society on Monday night, were rudely dispelled by a cold, first, drizzling, and then drenching, rain on Tuesday, but on Wednesday the weather was beautiful, all that could be desired. The attendance was what might naturally have been expected under such circumstances, rather thin on Tuesday, but on Wednesday probably the largest the Society's Exhibition has ever drawn together. The programme for Tuesday was carried very nearly, in spite of the rain, but in consequence of an accident at the Gas Works, no gala could be had, and Prof. King was obliged to postpone his balloon ascension till the next day. It was, outside the Hall, especially for the exhibition of cattle, with one Trot by men, and one by horses, added in the afternoon. The Plowing Match had been omitted, by vote of the Trustees at their meeting in December last, to the very evident regret of many, and it seems likely that the offer of premiums for this purpose will be renewed for the coming exhibition. Leominster and Princeton furnished Town Teams of Oxen, which were very creditable to them and to the Society. Very general regret was expressed at the removal of nearly all the neat stock on Tuesday afternoon, and it is earnestly hoped that some (Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and do not occur in the book.)
